Thomas lost his life in a supposedly confined room.

It was easy to assume that it was suicide.

However

The young
Miss Lane

After giving logical and reasonable explanations

She said -

This case is -

Clearly homicide.

And -

FROM THE LADY TO THE

Here comes the conclusion of the case !

as proofs of holy writ

What are you saying that for ?

124 1/2 ft
apart.

It is from chapter 3
of Othello by William Shakespeare.

Something that is seemingly as unimportant as air
we breath may fuel
fire to those who are consumed by jealousy.

it's perfect for this case also.

First of all,

As a butler,
I would have to explain this to my lady first.

But since you
are here also,
let's save time
and let me begin.

It was perfectly understandable that you were unable to get any witness to give you anything

As you know,
servants swear an oath to their masters
and show them
loyalty.

At the same time,
servants themselves
form a union of some sort to tighten their bonds between them.

That is how a rumor of secrets from the noble society can spread like fire on oil to the whole London underworld.

Wait,

Are you implying that -

You are willing to break your oath and bond?

I am -

Not like them.
I have sworn no
oaths, nor do I have any bonds.

For I am a bat.

A bat?

I can neither join
the ranks of servants
nor the ranks of gentry.

I am just a bat.

And I may just be playing the role of a butler for the moment.

I don't get it.

Lady detective

These chemical tools here have nothing to do with a lady in general

And who is the butler?

I find those two far too suspicious than the incident itself

Even to someone like me,

I can still get bits of info.

What really is going on here?

Shall we begin?

I am sure you've already read the reports.

This case has some interesting facts.

First of all,

He died in a supposedly
confined room.

The murderer
used an ice
to lock the door
from inside.

Janimes
JANIMES.COM

In middle of summer, round
you.

The marquis' house did have a freezer.

Still ice in middle of summer is precious.

Not everyone would have access to such.

Even for those who work in their kitchen, ordinary maids wouldn't have access to ice.

The only ones with access would be their head chef, butler, and head of maids.

In other words, only those on top would be able to access the freezer.

Head chef

Head maid

Butler

You probably know
better than me.
Percussion lock has quite a feedback.

If the gun on the floor was the murder
weapon,

The murderer
would be someone with experience
in handling guns.

Or even perhaps a professional killer.

It's not something
an old man or a maid
could simply handle
without prior knowledge of percussion lock.

Are you implying

Maybe...

Is that what you
are implying ?!

The marchioness'
husband has killed
his wife's brother ?!

How can you
sleep at ease?

Charles D Gray,
you are the most
famed civil detective here. How can you be so dull ?

Yes, it is true that her husband is known to be a good shot.

But wars are not fought with just nobles, you know.

It's not uncommon for noble's personal servants to go with their master to serve him during wars.

The stage is set now.

There is even a suspect.

There is a man who is capable of using a percussion lock gun good enough to have killed Thomas in one attempt.

He even has a motive.

Barnister L. White

Now what is left is...

To prove that the poor guy really killed
Thomas.

Scientifically and logically.

Just
tell me...

Who are you two really?!

I heard she is an author of a detective story ?

A normal lady
doesn't write
any commercial
novels to begin with !

She's a normal lady and I am an ordinary butler.

And as for you,
a but ?!

Our society has clear ranks to differentiate people !

Normal ?!
Ordinary ?!

A man simply cannot join a side and expect the other to be friendly with you !

As for our lady right here.

She is Elizabeth Newton.

She has a temper
and buys a lot of books for no apparent reason.

And as you can see
in this room, her
hobby is chemistry.

A normal female
author so to speak.

And my name is Edwin White.

Edwin White ?!

The white demon
of court !

Some seem to call me that.

So, you really
are the one ?!

No way !

How could he have ended
up here ?!

You aren't normal
then !

THE WHITE
DEMON

THE WHITE
DEMON

You became a federal lawyer at the youngest recorded
age !

Then you took 30
cases where you won all your cases in your favor !

Some even said you made a pact with the satan for your brutal ability in courts !

Why in the world would someone like you end up doing house chores for some lady ?

Did you commit fraud ?

Rush
&
Cash

Got money ?

Nope.

Well ...

I do have a story
which house wives
would love to listen and talk about.

But that is not why we are here for.

The priority now is to determine whether owner of this morning-
coat is the murderer
or not.

Don't you think so ?

Morning
coat ?
Whose ?

There was a young man.

His father was employed by a noble household.

His son also thought it was only natural to become employed by the same household
in the future.

He reached adulthood.

Having spent all of his younger life
as a servant, he came a personal servant for a young noble man.

He even met a noble maid in the same place
and promised marriage.

He had no complaints in his life until he followed his young
master to the war
in Asia.

His life was quite perfect until then ...

Thomas' girlfriend,
Lady Charlotte,

was married to another man.

After he returned
from the war,

It was said that he called a maid to his room every night to draw her.

The model was Peter Wilken's
fiancee.

If we choose to believe that it was not suicide.

Then we must clear one fact.

Before we could proceed
any further,

Is there a motive for a murder?

Yes, there it is.
It's called jealousy.

So, it wasn't that he committed suicide in despair!

He was murdered
by another man
fueled by jealousy?

Yes, ma'am.

Alright, it's getting more interesting!

... Is she always like that?

... You have no idea how much trouble I go through.

She does that often times.

Can you confirm that?

Yes, according to records,
there's nothing
wrong ...

Now we just need to find chemical reaction from this robe.

By the way ...

How are you going to prove gun shot from this coat?

Lady detective

Gun powders from such guns spread out miles away.

Most of them will end up on gunman's hand and sleeve.

Lead, barium, and antimony are the ones that will be spreading out.

sulfuric acid

$H_2SO_4$

$Zn$

zinc

And presence of antimony can easily be detected by a simple test.

potassium chlorate

3gms antimony

The test is called "Marsh test".

By mixing zinc
and sulfuric acid,
we get zinc sulfate
and hydrogen.

Now mix this with water that had a portion of the diamond and we should get antimong hydrides.

Is it possible to confirm a suspect ...

coloured
comp. is not

By doing a chemical experiment
like this ?

If so ...

It would prove to be an evolutionary
breakthrough ...

It's ordinary mirror.

It's not just ordinary coat.

Arsenic can also be detected
by the same
test.

It will have a reaction
with sodium hypochlorite.

In other words,

Whoever wore
this robe fired
the gun.

And he would be the murderer

His lover, Lucy went to Thomas'
room every night.

He became obsessed.

He was eventually consumed by jealousy.

In the end, he pulled the trigger.

It wouldn't have mattered to him whether Thomas violated Lucy or not.

Even if really
nothing happened,

People would create gossip.

And her reaction toward him would confirm his suspicion
even if it meant nothing other than embarrassment.

Even little things
that no body
pay attention to -

For someone who was overtaken by jealousy -

It could mean life
and death

According to my info, Peter is the butler's son
in the household.

The father probably tried to hide the incident.

And probably Peter's sister who was working in the same household
knew this as well.

This is the proof

We give you.

How...

How did you know
even servants' affairs?

They have a good information
network.

Indeed (S.O.B.)

God (S.O.B.)

And they treat that guy as one of them?

Would you like
tea now then?

Say, it's handsome.

... Yes.

It ended well,
but you don't look so pleased.

Haha...

Of course, not!
They threw my guide away!

Well...

I have some interesting things
to look into.

Well,

I want to look into their backgrounds.

I can help you.
Just ask me.

Yeah,
right.

A female author who writes detective
stories.

And a butler who was the best lawyer.
